Parents Guard Against Polio

There is, as yet, no polio in Andover.

Dr. William V. Emmons, chairman of the board of health, said this week that no reports have been received of any polio nor of any suspected cases in the town.

Other areas of the state have been reporting record numbers of polio victims.

Pump's Attendance Dips

While there may have been no actual cases of the disease here, parents were apparently safeguarding their youngsters by keeping them from public swimming. (Continued on Page Seven)

Roy Bradford Takes Issue With Architects

A former chairman of the school committee, Roy H. Bradford, has expressed surprise that the Shawshen school architects "can't find a good word for it".

Mr. Bradford, now a Boston resident, served as chairman of the committee and also was chairman of the Shawshen school building committee.

He has called attention to many pertinent facts connected with the building of the Shawshen school. The same architectural firm - Perley F. Gilbert associates - which made the recent recommendations against adding to the structure, drew plans for the original (Continued on Page 14)

Water Show Staged By Pump's Guards

The third water show of the year at Pump's pond was held July 31.

Activities included a kick board race for youngsters under nine and diving and swimming exhibitions by the lifeguards.

In the race, Joan Miller took first prize with Joyce Fisher second and Richard Steele, third.

Alfred Robb and Richard Steele took the first heat; Joan Miller and Joyce Fisher won the second heat.

The winners received big water-melon slices from Director Donald Dunn.

Planning Board Orders Survey Of Route 28

The planning board will make its own survey of the proposed new Route 28 to determine where interchanges should be located.

The board has directed both Engineer Clinton Goodwin and Consultant Nord Davis to survey the entire route within Andover. The pair will then make recommendations regarding interchanges.

In its discussion, the planning board saw the need of considering both industrial development and the ease of traffic circulation. Interchanges were discussed, both as Dascomb rd. and Lowell Junction, it was reported. And some thought was given to the possibility of having both interchanges included in final state plans.

The board also made mention of its belief that Wilmington is interested in industrial development in the area adjoining Andover at Lowell Junction.

Ballardvale sewerage problems will get an airing next Monday night.

The board of health will meet at 5 that afternoon in its town hall office to consider several serious questions concerned with connections to the new sewer line and Clark's brook pollution. Meeting with them will be Mrs. Wendell Hopkins of 12 Chester st.

Dr. William V. Emmons, chairman of the board, has publicly stated that the board will act promptly on three specific cases of pollution. They were cited by the state department of public health in a report which said pollution was found in the brook.

Other Action?

What other action the board may take on getting other residents to enter the sewer is not clear.

There are 145 homes available to the new sewer while only 42 (Continued on Page Nine)

Fire Hazards And Danger Of Sickness Cited

A grim, often frightening picture of the Bradlee school has been painted by school architects.

They recommend abandonment of the school.

According to the Perley F. Gilbert associates, the building is a firetrap - with no adequate safeguards for the children in case of fire.

It is completely inadequate in the lighting department.

Day Of Fun Is Planned For Vale Playgr'd

A peanut carnival will be held at the Ballardvale playground Aug. 11 as part of the all-day outing for all playground youngsters.

The morning events will consist of track and field events, followed by a lunch period. Children will bring their own lunch but liquid will be provided for them.

The affair is being sponsored instead of the annual trip to Canobie Lake. Playground Director George F. Snyder has announced that health authorities felt a trip to a strange place, where many youngsters gather, would be unsafe in the polio season.

Peanuts Replace Money

The events next Thursday afternoon will be unusual. Peanuts, it has been explained, will replace currency for the afternoon. Thus, there will be a charge of peanuts for each game played or (Continued on Page Ten)

Start Work At New High School Site

Work began this week on the $35,998 site development job for the new high school on Shawsheen rd.

Supt. Edward I. Erickson, who serves as secretary of the building committee, said the firm of Cox and Whitmore had equipment at work this week.

The committee had signed a contract with the Dedham firm so that initial work could begin before actual construction is started. They explained that a play area for the youngsters could be grassed over and allowed to grow for a year before use if the work began this summer.

Other work will include stockpiling loam, sub-grading the actual building site and tree removal. Members of the company, architects and the school superintendent walked over the site last week in preparation for the beginning of work.

To Study Roads

The planning board will study all unaccepted streets and roads in the town. Problem of municipal responsibility was raised recently by other boards. Report expected in September.

Signs Lot Plans

Planning board signed plan of Fred Doyle for end of Juniper rd., off Beacon st., showing minor changes. Is not a sub-division.

Signed plan showing five lots on North side of Andover st. in Ballardvale at request of Lincoln Giles. Lots have 150-foot frontage and contain 15,000 square feet. Is not sub-division.

Saw preliminary plans of Robert Leathers for sub-division in Alderbrook estate off So. Main st., conforming to present zoning regulations. Number of houses contemplated is 46 rather than prior estimate of 120. Also saw and signed plans for three houselots on Rattlesnake Hill rd. which include land involved in five lots for which building permits were issued and withdrawn earlier this summer.

8-Inch Main

Board of public works voted installation of 8-inch main for extension at High Plain rd. Said six-inch main was insufficient for needs.

Unique Present

Woman living in Upland rd. area sent BPW Engineer Ralph Preble a sample of family wash and two bottles of water — to prove how discolored water stained clothes. He expressed sympathy and promised to investigate.

Hears Appeal

Heard appeal of Paul Gibbons, off Shawsheen rd., who wants to sell big house and 13 acres of a 17-acre plot. Retention of four acres means a sub-division, requiring zoning appeal board action.

Boys Raise $35.41 For Jimmy Fund

The Jimmie Fund is $35.41

richer this week.

Several West Parish youngsters went out collecting, door-to-door, for the fund. It has become an annual custom in the area for youngsters to do something in the money-raising field to benefit the Jimmy Fund.

Taking part in the activity were Billy Turner, Robbin Pedlow, David Lermont, Robert Land, Arthur Lebreck and Larry Sullivan.

knocked off first. He fell off twice more accidentally and both contestants were dumped into the water on the second round.

The tandem swim, slim Jim swim and twin swim were demonstrated by guards Tom Lawler and Paul Cronin.

Frank Nelligan and John Sanderson gave a diving exhibition, including running front dive, swan dive, back lay out, front lay out, full gainer and jack knife with half twist.

Feature of the afternoon was Don Light's dive through a hoop of flame. Alcohol-saturated cloth was fired and Light dove through it, the first time such an event has been staged at Pomp's.

All beginning swimmers and intermediates, either in classes or who have passed their tests, are requested to be at the pond Friday morning at 10 to have a picture taken. Director Dunn also announced that there will be another beginners test Thursday morning and an intermediate test Friday after the pictures. Mr. Dunn also suggested that any beginners who have passed their tests may join the intermediate class, meeting Monday through Friday at 11 a.m.

Anyone wishing to join the diving class may do so, Mr. Dunn continued.

Library Wants Copies Of Old Andover History

The Memorial Hall library is looking for histories of the town. Pointing out that continued use of old books makes them "very delicate", the library is seeking copies of two histories. They are Abiel Abbot's "History of Andover From Its Settlement to 1829" and "Historical sketches of Andover" by Sarah Loring Bailey, written in 1880.

When the latter author published her sketches, she pointed out that they were the first published work on Andover history since the early, 1829 edition. She also explained that her original intent was to publish a collection of sketches of the romance and poetry of Old Andover history. Arranging the data in chronological order, she discovered that a much greater amount of work was required, both in research and writing.

Copies Wear Out

The library staff has pointed out that paper gets so brittle that books can't be bound, adding to the delicacy of the volumes.

While the present copies of the two histories are still usable, it has been explained that anyone seeking a permanent home for copies of either volume will find them welcomed at the library. Present books are receiving constant use, the library reports, bringing closer the time when they will be worn out completely.

NO POLIO CASES REPORTED HERE

Pump's pond reported a sharp drop in attendance last weekend. Director Donald Dunn said fewer swimmers were using the facility than in other polio seasons in past years.

Dr. Emmons said the drop in attendance was particularly noticeable last Saturday. There were less than 25 swimmers, he declared, as opposed to the usual 1000 or more on a sunny weekend afternoon.

Mr. Dunn said, however, that the crowd picked up Monday, with the return of hot weather.

Water Declared Suitable

Tests of the water at the pond have been conducted, he explained, with satisfactory results. He said the state had declared the water "suitable" for swimming. Drinking water at the pond comes from the town supply, he asserted.

One Casualty

The polio outbreak in other parts of the state has caused one major revision in the playground schedule — the only official notice taken, other than tests, of the possibility of polio here. The annual outing to Canobie Lake was cancelled so that the youngsters would not come in contact with crowds from other areas.

Activities at Pump's pond are continuing as scheduled.

The town has always been fortunate, Dr. Emmons has pointed out, in having not more than one polio case in a given year.

Time To Organize Group

(Fourth in a Series)

Some communities, without either a private corporation or development commission, attract industry through private groups.

The Board of Trade might, for instance, appoint a committee on industrial development.

In at least one town, to our knowledge, a Board of Trade committee has been successful in bringing several small business to the community.

That type of organization of course requires the closest cooperation between town offices and boards, and the private group, who may be completely unfamiliar with town regulations, requirements, zoning and the like.

If that type of group should be selected here to carry on industrial development, it would be vital to select a chairman and members whose interest is keen and whose time is available.

A fourth possibility is a committee composed of elected and appointed town officials. This committee could serve as the industrial development group and have, within its membership, the authorities on every phase of the town's activities.

For instance, such a committee would probably include a selectman, a planning board member, a board of public works member and several others with experience in town problems. Certainly this type of committee would thoroughly understand the problems in all sections of town and would be able to give industry an immediate answer to any question of municipal services or availability of supplies, labor, transportation and other items.

One immediate disadvantage of such a group, however, is that its membership would, of necessity, be political. A certain segment of the population might tend to minimize its activities as being political while others might harshly criticize its activities because of past political differences of opinion with its members.

But at least it is crystal-clear that we do need the information possessed by the various departments and boards of the town. The closest possible cooperation, between all these public servants and bodies and whatever type of industrial development commission is established, will be essential.

While, at this point, we do not recommend any one of the four possible plans for an industrial development group over the others — we do feel that it is time for the town to make up its mind to the necessity of choosing one and getting it organized.

It is certain that the four types of organization suggested in this series are not the only types available to the town. There possibly could be many variations except in the case of the Industrial Development Commission, which is controlled by state law.

What is most important now, we stress again, is to select the type or combination of types that appears best for the town and get it to work.

FIRE HAZZARD AT BRADLEE SCHOOL

Play area is inadequate in size and playing surface.

Heat radiation in classrooms is from open steel pipes and is totally inadequate.

Children are subject to foul air conditions throughout the day.

Minimum standards of ventilation of classrooms do not exist.

Plumbing fixtures are totally inadequate and sanitary conditions existing in the toilet rooms are far from the best.

Piping was installed in 1889 and needs extensive repair and replacement.

Egress from classrooms in emergencies is often through cloakrooms — small and isolated.

Smell from cloakrooms was very bad and odors of wet clothing still present.

Fair To Children

In their report, the architects cited the fine school system in the town. "In fairness to this reputation, and particularly to the children, this school should be considered for immediate abandonment and a modern and efficient school plant be erected in its place".

Like A Chimney

The report said "Any fire starting in the basement would spread through the building in a matter of minutes". It listed a lack of fire stopping in the partitions, open stairways of wood which have been soaked in oil and varnish for years, no smoke screen in building, no fire doors.

The stairways contain 17 stairs in a run — while the state department of public safety has set a maximum of 12 as being safe.

Disease Possibility

No ventilation, except by opening and closing classroom windows, means a chance that children will be "exposed to chill and cold" or "they are subjected to conditions which are unsanitary in their nature and which also could lead to serious outbreaks of contagious disease". They referred to the fact that ventilation, as it exists in the building, is only through the basement area.

Indian Ridge

The architects report also recommended the immediate tearing down of the Indian Ridge school. The architects cited rotted beams and floors, falling plaster, bad leaks in the roof that causes the cellar floor to be covered with water after a storm.

Richardson School

The Richardson school in Shawsheen, long abandoned, is in bad condition and should be torn down. The report said the land should either be made available as a playground or sold so the town could get some tax return from the property.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — August 1905

Mrs. James J. Abbott has returned from Lindenville, Vt., where she has been spending some time with friends and relatives.

Henry W. Barnard had wonderful luck fishing at the Isles of Shoals, where he has been spending a few weeks. He caught a 400-pound shark and a 50-pound cod.

Boys of Christ church choir are spending 10 days camping at Canobie Lake. They eat at Canobie Lake farm and are in charge of Choirmaster John Bachelder.

A pleasant lawn party was held Friday evening on the lawn of Miss Alice Coutts, Maple ave. The event was sponsored by the YPSCE of the Free church. Over 100 Japanese lanterns were strung around the lawn.

Work on the house and barn for Charles Jameson in West Andover started Monday.

The Misses Anna Chase and Susan M. Wilbur are enjoying the sea breezes at York Beach, Me.

Miss Constance Somers has been assisting in several departments of the play school. She has arranged an entertainment for all youngsters of the play school this afternoon in Punchard hall. Miss Mary Alice Abbott and Miss Sarah A. Pratt have consented to entertain.

Supt. of Schools Corwin F. Palmer has moved from High st. to the residence of the late Dr. J. F. Richards on Main st.

The Rev. A. T. Belknap and family are spending the month of August at Hillside farm, Kennebunk pond, near So. Waterboro, Me.

25 Years Ago — August 1930

Over 500 men, women and children watched a stunts contest, bike races and other activities at the playground last Friday evening.

Work on the new by-pass, on a five-mile section of Reading rd. to a point on the Salem turnpike at Wilson's corner, is going forward rapidly. Surface soil from a meadow at the corner of Salem st. and Reading rd. is to be removed and replaced with gravel.

The 10th season of Camp Andover has reached a half-way mark. Seventy-two girls between 11 and 13 left Saturday, to make way for 70 girls from 14-18, who will arrive Saturday.

Exercises are being held today at the end of the four-week vacation church school. The kindergarten is holding exercises in the John Dove school this morning, while others hold exercises tonight in the Free church. Hand work of the students will also be exhibited.

Beginners tests at Pomp's pond found 36 boys and girls passing and, thus, moving on to a more advanced class. John Robertson is the lifeguard.

A whist party was held Tuesday afternoon on the lawn of Mrs. Fred Westcott, Summer st.

Three Malden boys were severely reprimanded by the police chief, Frank M. Smith, for jumping on and off trolley cars. The boys said they were just trying to reach their homes, having ridden to Lawrence originally. They were allowed to leave after the warning.

The new dining hall at Phillips academy will probably be ready for use in the fall. The entire student body will then be served under one roof.

The delegates of the Legion post have returned from Williams-town, site of the state convention.

10 Years Ago — August 1945

Two teachers were appointed military substitutes at a special meeting of the school board last Tuesday night. The committee also accepted the resignation of Miss Theresa Nollet, secretary in the office of the high school principal.

A benefit baseball game will be played next Thursday night at the playstead, to aid the child welfare work of Legion Post 8. The 40 and 8 will have the assistance of other local ball players as they meet Lawrence St. Augustine's CYO team.

The selectmen are awaiting a written report from the police chief concerning an alleged brawl in So. Lawrence in which, it is alleged, a local policeman was injured.

Walter Young is general chairman of the Servicemen's Fund carnival slated for later in the month. Children of the town are selling tickets. The five youngsters selling the most tickets will receive a prize, Young announced.

Fireman Henry Pomeroy has returned to duty after three years' absence. He has been in the Coast Guard.

A stunt night will be held this week at the Central playground. This is a new Friday night activity and all children wanting to take part should register with Miss Cole.

A water circus will be held at Camp Maude Eaton Sunday afternoon.

The Town team will meet Winthrop at the Playstead Sunday afternoon. The Townies beat Winthrop earlier this year, 4-0.

The Andover Mothers club will hold a penny social Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 21, at the home of Mrs. Alexander Crockett, So. Main st.

WILL DISCUSS BALLARDVALE SEWAGE

have connected their plumbing to it. The board of public works engineer, Ralph Preble, revealed the startling figures this week.

However, he said there appear from the map to be only six homes close enough to Clark brook to have a direct effect on it.

Has Authority

The state report, released last week by the selectmen, said the local board of health has authority to make homeowners connect to the sewer where a nuisance is present.

The report also said the board "is within its province to require all residences adjacent to a public sewerage system to connect therewith even though a nuisance does not exist upon the property"

Legal Questions

Commenting on the latter section, Dr. Emmons explained that the law does give the local board that authority but does not specify a period of time within which the order must be obeyed. He said court cases indicate that a year is considered a reasonable period from the time the sewer is completed.

In that case, the homeowners in that area will have until Jan. 2, 1956 to connect their plumbing to the public sewer.

Thus, tough legal problems must be solved by the board before direct action can be taken to get all sewer connections made, Dr. Emmons stated.

May Send Letters

He has previously suggested the necessity of sending a letter to the persons involved asking their cooperation. And later, he mentioned the possibility of sending a more definite letter quoting parts of the state law applicable to the problem.

Cooperation Asked

Meanwhile, as the board prepares to discuss the problem Monday, Mrs. Hopkins has issued another request for Vale residents to cooperate in getting all possible sewer connections made immediately.

She said this week that the brook is nearly stagnant, with refuse piled around the outlet at Andover st. so that water can't pass through the pipe under the road.

It was her original charge that the brook is an open cesspool in the summer that brought the current activity by the health board. The selectmen requested an examination of the stream, based on her charges, with the answer being one of "pollution".

Correct One Violation

In another case, Dr. Emmons has reported some action in regard to outdoor toilet facilities at one home in the Vale. He said the board has ordered the situation remedied within 30 days and explained that the offender has made application for installation of more modern plumbing facilities.

Bad At Polio Time

In discussing the general sewerage situation in Ballardvale, Mrs. Hopkins has pointed out that pollution of a stream like Clark brook is particularly bad in a polio season. She said some children still play in the area from time to time, although many have been forbidden to play there.

A good banker does not talk. He listens and what he hears he keeps confidential.

But suppose the Bay State Merchants National Bank as an institution could talk. It would certainly say that it values most that sort of popularity due to the reputation its bank has of always being fair and considerate; of having the welfare of the depositors at heart as well as that of the borrowers.

If it is good business for you to borrow, it is good business for us to lend. Nine out of ten applications are granted; and where, in the tenth instance, good banking does not permit the loan, we often can suggest another solution of the financial problem.

May we help you?

No Place Like Home

No more high poles for Chucky Galley, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Galley — at least that's what the youngster says.

He fell from a tree about a month ago while playing at his favorite game of being a lineman, very realistic pastime which goes on all year, even to the extent of laying imaginary cables on the coldest days of winter. The reason the busy lineman gives for being grounded is that he now has a crossbeam which he salvaged during the hurricane; and with the help of friends and neighbors who know how much they mean to the youngster, he now has a complete set of 10 insulators for his telephone pole no higher than a sawhorse and the real thing.

This adds up to very good news for the boy's mother, who, after visiting him for three and a half weeks in the hospital while he was being treated for a fractured skull and wrist, is glad to see him grounded. Chucky has come along very well and, as the youngster so aptly put it as he arrived at his home on Yale rd. a little over a week ago, "There's no place like home".

Lobster by the Sea

Mrs. Napoleon Belanger of Castle Heights rd. entertained a group of friends recently at a lobster dinner at her summer home in Marblehead. The guests present at the dinner party were Mrs. Michael Herlihy, Mrs. John Grecoe, Mrs. Robert Beirne, Mrs. Alexander Marier and Mrs. James Byrnes.

Colorful Doll Show

A colorful doll show was held July 29, having been postponed from the usual Thursday morning schedule because of showers.

Susan Miller was awarded first prize in the most unusual category with her pair of lovely Pennsylvania Dutch dolls. Joan and Diane Freedman also won a blue ribbon for their clever walking and talking dolls. Alice Sullivan's Italian doll won first prize for the most beautiful, with Barbara Santuccio's doll winning second place and Joanne Blamire's doll, third. A clown doll owned by Jean Blamire won first in the funniest class and Nancy Lavin's clown doll won second.

The judges this week were Nancy Jean Smith and Herbert Sullivan.

A bubble gum contest will be the special event of the week and will begin this morning at 10:30.

In the handicraft department, the youngsters worked with plaster of paris molds in the form of foxheads, elephants, mice and seals which required shaping and painting.

Above Sea Level

The U. S. Department of the Interior made a geological survey of this area in 1941 and 1942. As a result of the survey a topographical map was made showing the triangulation points and bench marks which indicate the elevation above sea level of various sections of the village.

The approximate center of the village at the present time, as indicated by the map, is located at the junction of Union and Main st. The elevation at this particular point is 73 feet above sea level. Shawsheen sq. has a low reading of 38 ft., as compared with a high of about 150 feet in Shawsheen Heights. Two other points of interest are at the corner of Lowell and Canterbury sts., which is 82 feet above sea level and the intersection at High and Haverhill sts., with a reading of 93 feet.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Licciardello and children, Jane and Sandra, of Haverhill st. are vacationing in Philadelphia.

Prizes For Imagination

The children themselves will handle the entire affair. Prizes of $5, $3 and $2 will be awarded for the three most unique booths at the carnival. While playground instructors are available for help in planning the booths, Snyder explained, the children are responsible for constructing them and getting them set up at the playground. They will also act as barkers for their booth, charge whatever price (in peanuts) they wish and handle other details of operation. Adults will be available only for general supervision, he said.

Also to be held that afternoon are the championship games in six fields — checkers, ping-pong, dominoes, sand building, bean bag toss and chess. Champions from each playground will meet to decide the town champ for the year, Mr. Snyder explained.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE

In games this week, the Tigers defeated the Browns, 7-6 and the CYO beat the Dodgers, 7-4.

Next week's games are Monday, Browns vs Dodgers and Tuesday, CYO vs Tigers.

Standings in the league: CYO, 5-2; Browns, 4-3; Tigers, 4-3 and, in fourth place, Dodgers, 1-6.

WILL SURVEY
ROUTE 28

28 followed a week after the selectmen made their recommendations to the state. In a letter to Commissioner John A. Volpe, the selectmen urged an interchange at Lowell Junction, none at Dascomb rd. and also said they wanted no dead ended streets in the town.

Make Own Study

The hearing on the matter some weeks ago was a joint matter between the selectmen, board of public works and planning board.

It was stated at the time that all three boards would then discuss the situation and determine a course of action. However, a planning board representative said it had not been asked to meet with any other town body since the hearing and was thus preparing to make its decision on the basis of its professional staff's report as well as opinions expressed at the hearings.

Many Friends Bid
Cooper's Welcome

Over half-a-hundred friends and neighbors gathered in the North school July 19 to greet the Rev. and Mrs. Raymond Cooper, long-time residents of River rd.
Mr. and Mrs. Cooper have spent the past seven months in Granger, Iowa, with their daughter, Elizabeth. Married to Even Brown, and the mother of four children, she was stricken with polio last October. She now has moved to Omaha, Neb., where advanced polio treatments are available.

Mr. Cooper is associated with a fund-raising firm in New York. He was educated at Bucknell university, Harvard university and Andover-Newton Theological seminary.

The committee which arranged the get-together last week included Mrs. Harold Cookson, chairman; Mrs. Albert Retelle, Mrs. Russell Seaman, Mrs. Ralph Newton and Mrs. Frank Robinson. A musical program was offered and refreshments were served.

FIRE HAZARD AT BRADLEE SCHOOL

Like Both Sites

On the matter of possible school sites, the architects inspected only two and found them both good.

Carmel woods, the report said, appears to be a good site for a school. The report commented "It is, in our opinion, fortunate that a town has available and owns a site so centrally located and so constituted from a physical standpoint that a school building could be erected at very nominal cost."

The other site, the ball field at the Ballardvale playground, also drew praise from the architects. It, too, is owned by the town and its topography, the report said, would be suitable for a modern school building without great cost for site improvement.

The report's bitter condemnation of the Bradlee school drew remarks from school board members: "it's a conservative report" or "It's an understatement". Requested By Committee

The architects made their survey and report as a result of the Shawsheen school addition report of a few weeks ago. At that time, the architects said it would be unwise to add the four rooms to the Shawsheen school because of the great expense involved in repairing the present building. Instead, they suggested a new school.

The board asked that a report of all existing, old schools be made so that the sub-committee on planning would have all available information. The report on the Bradlee school and possible sites was referred to that committee for study.

In other school board business, a meeting was set for tonight to inspect materials that will go into the West school addition.

Frank Kiernan, a representative of the Perley F. Gilbert associates, said the board is always given its choice of brick and other "material so that they'll know what is going into the building."

He also reported that final plans for the building are some three to four weeks away.

There has been a delay, he explained, because sharply rising building costs have forced a complete revision in the plans so that the appropriation of $175,000 can be met.

Testimonial Is Monday Night

Next Monday night at 8, friends, relatives and co-workers will pay honor to three retired firefighters.

The testimonial banquet will be held at the fire station in tribute to a combined 100 years of service to the community.

To be feted are Timothy Maden, with 31 years; Kerr Sparks, 32 years and Ralph Baker, 37 years.

Members of the committee include Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Noyes, James Deyernmond and Mrs. Woodrow Crowley.

BRADFORD TAKES ISSUE WITH GILBERT ASSOC.

"I was quite startled to read that a representative of the architectural firm that had built the original Shawsheen school could not find a good word for it now..."

Mr. Bradford, who said he can't understand the architect's recommendation "to abandon" Shaw-sheen school, suggests that other schools in town are older and need to be replaced far more than the Village school.

Some of the details connected with the building of the Shawsheen school, as recounted by Mr. Bradford, follows:

"I believe the Shawsheen school cost $230,000, in 1923 — without allowing for the land. The E.N.R. index was 215 at that time and is now about 660, which would indicate a present replacement cost of about $700,000. If we use two per cent as a proper rate of depreciation, we have a present value of $252,000 and an insurable value of $329,000.

"From those figures, it appears that the town now has a Shawsheen school building with a book value of about $252,000 and there are eight regular class rooms with three in the basement making 11 in all. I assume the three in the basement are improvised class rooms.

"A new school building of 14 rooms with provisions for expansion would probably cost in the vicinity of $500,000, without considering the cost of the land. However, any estimate, to be of value, should be based on plans, specifications and other factors.

"When the Shawsheen school was built in 1923, every precaution was taken to have the plans flexible enough to allow for additional rooms to be built at a minimum of expense. The architect and the committee were agreed on this objective as it appeared at the time that additional rooms would be required fairly soon. However, when the junior high school was established, an expansion of the facilities at the Shawsheen school was not required as soon as anticipated. I believe the corridors were built wide enough and piping installed large enough to require no change if additional rooms were built. The sectional boilers installed would only require a few additional sections to take care of the larger load. There was some talk of having the foundations for additional class rooms put in at the time, but I do not remember that this was done."

All-Stars Win Three Straight

The Little League All-Stars, after overcoming early-inning jitters in their first game, have glittered afield and at the plate in taking two more games along the road to Williamsport. They need four more wins to go to the Little League world series.

The youngsters first beat a Haverhill St. Joseph's team, then took care of Newburyport last Thursday night and, on Saturday, beat a big Danvers team, 2-0, at Methuen's neutral field.

Saturday's game was marked by one of the noisiest rhubarbs of the all-star season.

Manager Al Carpentier was heaved out of the game by a neutral umpire from Methuen, after protesting two first base decisions. The highly partisan crowd took Carpentier's side, with plenty of hootin' and hollerin'.

The youngsters weren't upset by the noise, though, as they continued to shut out their Danvers opponents.

John Gallant pitched the shut-out, with Wally Bleszinski driving in both runs with a towering home run over the 190-foot center field fence. Damon had led off the third with a single, Lefebvre went out, followed by the mighty wallop of Bleszinski. He had previously doubled across two runs in the Newburyport game.

In their game against Newburyport, the local lads scored heavily in the third. They were out-hit by Newburyport, 6-4, but bunched a double and two singles with three walks by the Newburyport
